

CASE STUDY

Old Marston Parish Council

Ritotech have brightened Boult's Lane, Oxford on behalf of Old Marston Parish Council for residents, pedestrians and the local community with a solar solution that's also got the environment in mind.

Overview

Tim Cann, Clerk for the Parish Council, approached Ritotech in 2020 to provide brand new lighting solutions for several areas within Marston, Oxford.

The objective at Boult's Lane recreation ground was to install brand new lighting which would provide much needed safety and security to pedestrians, residents and the local community within the area.

Product specification

Ritotech supplied and installed three 'Defender' solar, street-lighting units which operate using PIR technology.

Features of the unit include:

- 'Off-grid' solution, negating the need for extensive civil works or costly connection to the main grid
- No running costs
- Zero maintenance system
- Self adjusting light levels
- Elegant design for suburban areas
- Flexible mounting options

Results

Ritotech provided the design, supply and installation of this project. With no need to lay cables and only minimal groundworks, it made this the perfect solution for Boult's Lane in Old Marston, Oxfordshire. The fact that the system is 'off-grid' means it has no mains power supply and the solar element within each unit means it'll have no ongoing running costs to the Council.

Tim Cann alongside other members of the Parish Council and the general public are very happy with the project installation and are pleased at the improved feeling of safety and visibility when in the area during the darker hours.

Conclusion

Old Marston Parish Council approached Ritotech owing to an established relationship that's been formed over the last two years, and because they "knew Ritotech would find the right solution".

James, Ritotech's MD, worked alongside Tim and the Council to achieve the solution that was most suited to the problem with the best lighting products on the market.
